COFFEE COMPANY CLIMBS PROPERTY LADDER

- Maxine Ross, journalist

Good news for caffeine lovers, as the Coffee Company, a recent addition to the Cranium Shopping Mall, has just opened a second premises, one floor down from the 2nd floor original premise. Although C.E.O. of the company, Cass O'Leary (she/her) was unavailable for comment, Middle Manager and Representative of the Coffee Company, Alexia Morgan (they/them), said that this second shop will "improve the quality that the Coffee Company provides to its customers". We at Muse-News also don't doubt it will make those Company Execs a fair bit more dosh!

ELECTION CAMPAIGNS CONTINUE

- Steve Turl, political correspondant

Excitement is growing as campaigning for the Mayoral elections, due to be held on Monday 19th September, ramps up. All eyes are now on long-standing Mayor Christopher Politick (he/they) and on any adversary brave enough or foolish enough to throw their hat into the ring.

CHILDREN WILL BE CHILDREN

- Bill Bryan, journalist

Children of the Dawn Spokesperson, Sister Gloria (she/her), formally apologises for their quote-unquote "sub-optimal email delivery system". Several people on the group's mailing list reported receiving out-dated and comically defunct Russian malware in their emails. The Children of the Dawn deny all allegations of malicious intent and offer free smoothies at their stand in the Cranium Shopping Mall to anyone affected by this bug.

SUMMER FETE DATE DECIDED

- Diana Dawkins, Ed in Chief

The much-beloved annual Summer Fête has been announced for Sunday 11th September in the Always Greener Park. This year is shaping up to be a party like no other, with Museford's own Kearney Events organising the fundraiser, which as well as raising money for worthy charities, provides small Musefordian businesses with a chance to show off what they can offer. With a long history of promoting and boosting small businesses, the Fête truly demonstrates the best of Museford and its inhabitants.
